Dear Mr. Flood:

STAT
I refer to your letter of 14 July 1957 concerning Lt. Col. _____ of the U.S.M.C. Reserve and to previous correspondence with this Agency on the same subject.
STAT

STAT
When _____ resubmitted his application for employment with this Agency in April of this year, his papers were carefully reviewed against any possible openings. Your letter of 13 April in his behalf was greatly appreciated, and your personal
STAT
endorsement of _____ was an important factor in the serious effort which has been made to find a suitable position for him.

STAT
After a review by a number of divisions, it was concluded that Colonel _____ background and experience would best qualify him for consideration in the logistics and supply area of our activities, and it was in this field that we concentrated in exploring employment possibilities. There are a number of positions in this field for which he might well have been qualified, but unfortunately these positions are presently filled, and there is no immediate prospect of a further requirement. It was for this reason that the Director of Personnel wrote _____ on 13 June and indicated that there was no suitable opening available. It has consistently been our policy to inform applicants promptly and frankly as to employment possibilities, so that they will not place any undue reliance on job openings which may or may not occur in the future.

STAT

It has also been our policy to limit new employment to those positions which are essential to the work of the Agency, and in fact to reduce the number of our employees wherever possible.

Orig.

Whenever a vacancy occurs anywhere in the organization, the position itself is reviewed for its essentiality. Our procedures in this regard are, I believe, in the best interest of administrative efficiency, and in accord with the desires of the Congress.

Although we are trying to hold the line on new employment wherever possible, employment opportunities of course do occur from time to time. You may have my assurance that [redacted] application has been given the most serious consideration, and that we will get in touch with him should any suitable openings develop in the future.

STAT

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
Director
